

4 Alleged CIA Agents Featured by Havana TV

HAVANA, Nov. 2 (UPI)—Four alleged Cuban agents of the United States Central Intelligence Agency, supposedly captured when they landed here last month, appeared on a Havana television program tonight and testified they had carried out several clandestine missions for the CIA since 1960.

Dr. Clemente Inclan, a noted yachtsman in pre-Castro Cuba, said he began delivering arms to Cuba for the exiled Christian Democrats movement before he was recruited by the CIA.

He said the CIA organized all arms shipments but that no Americans participated in the deliveries. He said he was trained along with other CIA recruits in a house in a Miami suburb on handling explosives, writing with invisible ink and use of firearms.

At the training school, he said, he met his fellow prisoners here—Alberto del Busto, Alberto Miranda and Luis Montero Carrazana.

He said he was captured when he landed aboard a launch Oct. 21 from the mother-ship, Rex, which departed from a Miami base. He was allegedly captured the same night Cuban warplanes shot up the Liberian flag freighter J. Louis.

Inclan said the recruits were paid $350 a month the first six months and after that were paid $400 a month.
